Enlist Data and Analytics to Identify Your Most Talented and Capable Officers

With our new solution, it's now possible to drive unprecedented visibility into officer performance and community impact. Agencies can use this data to recognize and reward exemplary behavior and offer growth-oriented coaching to promote service-oriented policing careers.

Measure Excellence Using Data Science. Our solution integrates data from multiple sources to measure productive engagement without harm to the community. Positive signals include community engagement, resolving calls skillfully, and supporting their team.

Identify and Recognize Top Performers. Using that data, each officer is assigned a rating that helps leaders identify top performers without bias. Officers can be immediately recognized or rewarded based on sustained performance.

Improve Performance Through Coaching. Supervisors can build customized plans to develop new skills and behaviors and promote career growth.
